IMMENSE ADVANCE IN THE MATRIMONIAL MARKET.—During the month of April, two hundred and twenty-nine marriage-licenses were issued by the Clerk of the Probate Court, against one-hundred and seventy-three during the month previous.

BURGLARY ON CUTTER-STREET.—The residence of John C. Kelly, on Cutter-street, near Clark, was feloniously entered last Saturday night, and robbed of money and valuables to the amount of nearly thirty dollars. The entrance was evidently effected by an outsider, as the front door was found ajar when the family arose on Sunday morning, the remainder being secured in the same manner in which they had been left the previous evening.

STABBING AFFRAY IN BUCKTOWN .- A difficulty occurred last Saturday night in Buck-town, between Sarah Fredericks and Hans town, between Sarah Fredericks and Hans Bailey, during which the latter received a couple of severe and painful, although not dangerous wounds in the back, from a pocket knife in the hands of the former. The terma-gant was arrested soon after, and yesterday morning was taken before Judge Lowe, who committed her to jail in default of bail in the sum of $500 to await trial at the next term of the Criminal Court.

THE RECENT ASSAULT UPON AN AGES THE RECENT ASSAULT UPON AN AGED WOMAN.—Thomas Wallace, who, our readers will remember, a few lays ago, cruelly beat an old woman named Burns, because she expostulated with him in regard to annoying and abusing her dumb child, was yesterday sentenced to the dungeon of the County Jail for a term of ten days. The affair was one of the most brutal of which we remember to have heard, and judged by the standard of revenge, should be punished by about a lifetime of solitary confinement.

gard to patents, is being quite freely circulated in our city among manufacturers, patentees and others, and deserves their attention. The petition reads thus:

"The undersigned respectfully present this, their remonstrance, to the Congress of the United States.

"They are informed that in the bill now pending in the Senate, it is contemplated to repeat that provision of law which enables persons applying for patents for new inventions to appeal from adverse decisions of the Commissioner of Patents to the Judges of the Circuit Court of the District of Columbia.

"Now, as this provision is entirely at the pecuniary expense of the appellant, who has also previously paid the patent fee into the Patent Fund, and as it is the only means by which meritorious inventors are enabled, frequently, to obtain the patent for their inventions, which alone will enable them judicially to test the question of the priority of their tions, which alone willenable them judicially to test the question of the priority of their alleged invention, in competition with such as may have received the previous favorable action of the Patent Office; and because it simply subjects the ministerial action of an Executive officer to a judicial review, and as it tends to the protection of private right, and serves the purposes of private justice, without doing any one injustice.

"The undersigned respectfully and firmly remonstrate against the repeal of the existing provision of law, upon the subject of appeal rovision of law, upon the subject of appeal rom the decision of the Commissioner of Patents.

SINGULAR SUICIDE OF AN AGED CITIZEN. SINGULAR SUICIDE OF AN AGED CITIZEN.—
The probable self-destruction of Mr. Evan Gaithler has already been announced, and we are now called upon to record his death.
Mr. G. left his residence, at No. 50 Moundstreet, a short time after dinner on Sunday, and did not return at the usual hour for tea.
His remarkably regular habits and his previcommental degression, combined to cause his ous mental depression, combined to cause his

His remarkably regular habits and his previous mental depression, combined to cause his family considerable uneasiness, which gradually increased as night came on, and as he still did not return, some of the members procured the assistance of a couple of officers, and repairing to his plumbing establishment, at No. 296 West Sixth-street, they broke open the door and found him lying upon the floor, in a moribund condition.

Medical aid was immediately summoned and he was removed to his residence. From the symptoms the physician expressed the opinion that he had swallowed laudanum, and there seems to have been no doubt that this was the method of his death. The poison had so diffused itself through his system, however, that medical aid was wholly vain, and despite the efforts of his physician, after lingering until five o'clock yesterday morning, he died.

Mr. G. was about sixty years of age, and for a long time had been a citizen of Uncinnati. He was widely-known and highly respected, and the method he thought proper to take to relieve himself of the cares of the world will be deeply regretted by numerous friends. The causes which led to his demise are not definitely known; but as there are griefs too deep for tears, so also there are circumstances too socred for words. Those who knew him best will most sincerely sorrow for his death, and the mantle which now covers his form will also hide his faults. for his death, and the mantle which now covers his form will also hide his faults.

Melancholy Suicide — Man Found in a Stable Subpunded by the Neck.—A few weeks ago a man named Contrad Hill arrived in this city, from Detroit, and obtained a situation, as a butcher, with Adam Klein, of Storrs Township. Last Saturday he was told by his employer that his services would be dispensed with after that day, but he was also requested to remain until yesterday, when he would probably be able to find another place.

On Sunday morning, however, when the hostler went to the stable for the purpose of attending to the horses, he found Hill suspended to one of the rafters by a rope, and quitedead. He was immediately taken down, but could not be restored. Coroner Carey held an inquest upon the body, night before last, but nothing was elicited which threw any light upon the remote cause of the act, although the more immediate one would seem to be the loss of his situation.

The deceased was about thirty-eight years of age, and unmarried. Nothing is definitely known of his previous history, save that he had resided in Detroit, and was a butcher by trade. His actions seemed to denote unsoundness of mind; but the probabilities are that recent pecuniary losses, combined with a deen-seated and morbid melancholy, which MRLANCHOLY SUICIDE - MAN FOUND

Source Dansants at the Burnet House.—
The exhibition ball of Mr. and Mrs. Shank this evening at the Burnet House promises to be a recherche affair. All the arrangements necessary for the comfort and enjoyment of the guests have been made, and in every respect it will doubtless excel any former effort of these popular Terpsichorean devotees. The supper—which may be had at any time, in the ladies' ordinary—in the hands of Measure. Johnston & Saunders, of the Burnet, will of course be a raircacle in its way, while the musicians, selected expressly for the occasion, will make the night joyous with delicious melodies. Altogether we have no doubt it will be one of the most pleasant parties of the season, and advise all who can to attend it.

CONDITION OF THE PUBLIC SCHOOLSroat of Paoresson Daury.—The following report from Prof. Drury, Principal of the City Free Schools, was presented to the School Board at its last session:

To the Board of Trustees of the Public Schools To the Board of Trustees of the Public Schools: Since my last Report I have devoted at least one half day to each of the twenty departments of our Public Schools; in many instances conducting the recitations myself, and in others assisting the teacher, by advice or suggestions, as I thought most conducive to the general interests of the scholars. I have met with a cordial welcome, and hearty co-operation on the part of all the teachers, from the highest to the lowest grade. There is, at the present time, a noble desire on the part of all the teachers, to advance their pupils, and to fix permanently in their minds plits and to fix permanently in their minds the principles of the branches pursued. The plan for a division of labor and fasten-ing responsibility, is working admirably. None of the studies required in our schools are neglected. Orthography, reading, composition, geography, English grammar, and men-tal and practical arithmetic, are, so far as I tal and practical arithmetic, are, so far as I have been able to discover, receiving a close share of attention. For uniform good conduct, I must award the palm to the Third District. The best class in practical arithmatic is in the First District; in the Second, Fourth, Fifth and Sixth Districts, I have found classes of great excellence, inferior to the First only in readiness any and every question appertaining to the subject.

In all the schools the progress in English grammar has been satisfactory. The recent change in the mental arithmetic prevents a report at the present time. The best readers I have found in the Second and Fourth Districts. I have never seen the public schools in so prosperous a state as at present:

The High School is quietly and successfully prosecuting the course of studies prescribed by the Board.

There have been enrolled in the schools, during the present quarter, 1,430 pupils—135 less than during the previous one.

The schools have two difficulties to con-

The schools have two difficulties to contend with at present, The first is providential, and, we trust, temporary—viz: sickness in the form of measles, which prevails extensively among the pupils. The second seems to be inherent, but we hope not permanent—viz: indifference on the part of parents. Teachers find it impossible to enforce punctual attendance. Children are force punctual attendance. Children are kept at home for the most trivial causes, for which the most trilling excuses are furnished. Must we infer from this that parents do not wish to educate their children?

But we do judge from their conduct that they are unwilling to submit to the least self-denial to secure a punctual and regular attendance or the means necessary for their education. They can not be made to feel that the absence of two or three parts of days each week as an axil which teachers can not that the absence of two or three parts of days each week as an evil which teachers can not repair. This single evil has caused me personally more trouble during my seven years' connection with the public schools, than all other evils. I can never feel confident that I am essentially benefiting our irregular pupils. In this I am confident that I speak the feelings of all the teachers in this city.

Respectfully,

THE CHARLESTON CONVENTION Douglas's Friends Still Confident DICKINSON'S FRIENDS EQUALLY SO

ONE MORE EFFORT FOR A PLATFORM Guthrie Stock Drooping.

Naw Yoar, April 30.—The correspondence of the Tribune says: The friends of Douglas will begin the contest to-day in great confidence of his nomination on the third ballot. The friends of Dickinson are equally confident, as it is believed the South will rally on him. An effort will be made to-day to take the Cincinnati Platform without addition. Weather very cold, the Cincinnati Platform without addition.

Weather very cold,

(Correspondence of N. Y. Herald.)

Washington, April 29.—A very cool, calculating and thoroughly-informed friend of Mr. Hunter, who has just returned to this city, after a week's sojourn at Charleston, says that things are just as well known here or in New York as at Charleston, nevertheless he antagonizes the idea expressed by a remarkably careful Southern Democratic Senator, that a third of the Southern delegates will support Mr. Douglas. Twenty is the extent of his allowance, and in that number is included a large support from the Tennessee delegation. He also says that Mr. Guthrie can not unite the South: a fact that has reason on its side, since such men as Messrs. Hunter, Davis, Governor Johnson and Breckinridge can hardly favor a nomination that must indefinitely postpone their chances.

Charleston, April 30.—The Convention met at 10 A. M. After prayer the President addressed the Convention, apologizing for the harsh language used by him during the disorder on Saturday evening, he, however, considered it his duty to speak plainly and positively. The President announced the first business in order was taking a vote on the main question which was on the substitute offered.

Mr. Butler, in behalf of Massachusetts, Min nesota, Indiana and New Jersey, presented the Cincinnati Platform, with a resolution for the protection of citizens of foreign birth. table was lost—ayes 146, nays 150.

The question then recurred on sustaining the appeal—ayes 145, nays not given, thus reversing the decision of the Chair.

This result is a gain of two votes for Douglas in New Jersey, and Georgia will also claim its right to vote by districts.

The next vote will be on the adoption of the minority report, when Alabama, Arkansas and Mississippi, in a body, and a portion of Louisians and other States, will present their protest and withdraw from the Convention.

After nearly an hour spent in discussing points of order and Parliamentary movements to prevent the reaching of the main question, Mr. Butler moved to lay the whole subject on the table and proceed to vote for President. Cries of "agreed," "no, no," &c.

Mr. Winthrop, of Alabama, contended that the motion of Mr. Butler was out of order and that a vote on the platform must now be taken.

Mr. Clark, of Mississippi, was unwilling to reach a result by subterfuge that we can not reach by plain dealing.

Mr. Gittings, of Md., attempted to address the Chair, but was called to order.

Mr. Butler withdrew his motion to lay on the table and proceed to balloting.

The President was about stating the question when a voice crisd out: "Mr. President, a mistake; I didn't second that man's motion down there."

Mr. Gittings rose to demand an explana Mr. Gittings rose to demand an explanation. He would like to know who it was who spoke so disrespectfuly to him. He claimed to be a delegate from Maryland.

Mr. Hooper rose—He did not intend anything disrespectful to the gentleman, but his name was Tom Hooper, of Alabama.

The question was then taken on adopting the minority report as a substitute for the majority report, and it was adopted—ayes 165; nays 138.

Mr. Flournoy asked permission to make a personal explanation, declaring bimself for bouglas, and unwilling to obey the instruction to leave the Convention in case the minority report was adopted.

The question then recurred on the adoption of the majority platform.

Mr. Ashe, of N. C., stated that if these minority resolutions are adopted he would be compelled to abandon the Convention, and disconnect himself from the Democratic party. [Cheers from the South.]

Mr. Salisbury, of Delaware, contended that the preamble to the minority resolutions controvert the Cincinnati Platform. [Cries of "order," and the gentleman continued talking at the top of his voice until drowned in the uproar].

Mr. Butler demanded that the question be first taken on the first part of the resolution

Mr. Butier demanded that the question be lirst taken on the first part of the resolution affirming the Cincinnati Platform seperately, and it was adopted. Ayes 23% navs 70.

When Mississippi was called, Mr. Glenn rose and voted "no," declaring that Mississippi believed the Cincinnati Platform, as explained at the North and Scatt an averaging the control of the con sippi believed the Gincinnati Platform, as explained at the North and South, an unqualified swindle. [His voice was drowned in cries of "order"].

The last half-hour up to one o'clock was spent in discussing the right of the Georgia delegation to a vote by districts.

The President having repeated his decision that the word "request," in the case of Georgia, is equivalent to a provision or instruction to vote as a unit, Mr. Seward appealed, and, while the vote was being taken, withdrew his appeal.

withdrew his appeal.

Mr. Briggs, of New York, now that the Cincinnati Platform was adopted, moved that all the balance of the resolutions be laid on the table.

Mr. Gittings, of Maryland, rose to know whether he had been ruled out of order simply because he came from a slave State?

[Cries of "order," and great confusion.]

Mr. Gittings continued to proclaim himself from a border State, and succeeded in getting himself laughted at, which seemed to be his object.

The Chair stated that he had not, to his knowledge, called the gentleman to order except when he was clearly out of order.

Mr. Gittings replied, "perhaps so," and then added that he had not had the honor of meeting the President before since 1840, when he made the most violent Whig speech he had ever heard.

Mr. Stuart raised a point of order that a motion to lay on the table would carry the whole subject with it.

The President decided that it would not carry to the tables the Cincinnati Platform just adopted just adopted.

Mr. Gittings rose to a personal explanation.
He did not mean any personal insult to the Chair when he remarked that he had first seen him at a Whig meeting, making a Whig speech. He honored such men; he honored any man who dared to be a Democrat in Massachusetts.

Missachusetts.
Mr. Yaucy, of Alabama, said the motion to lay the balance of the minority Platform on the table was out of order, as it is equivalent to a motion to strike out all but the first esolution, which would be clearly out of resolution, which would be clearly out of order.

The President declared the motion to lay on the table to be in order.

After the vote had commenced, Alabma, Mississippi and Florids desired to withdraw their votes, all refusing to vote on the subject. The result was then announced. Yeas 81; nays 181. So the Convention refused to lay the minority Platform on the table.

The Convention then proceeded to vote separately on the resolutions.

Mr. Brown, of North Corolina, warned gentlemen that if they adopted those resolutions the Democratic party would cease to exist as national party. Mr. Stuart, of Michigan, rose to a question of order. Cries of "down, down," by the Southern members.

Mr. Richardson, of Illinois, rose and desired to address the Convention.

Great excitement ensued, and the Southern members demanded a decision on the point of order, refusing to hear Mr. Richardson, and crying him down.

Nine of the Slave States withdrew, but as the Convention adjourned for consultation, no doubt, they will all come in again to-day

From California in Nine Days. ARRIVAL OF THE PONY EXPRESS.

St. Joseph. April 30.—The Pony Express, due here on the 27th inst., did not arrive until this noon, owing to the time of leaving the other side being changed. The Express left San Francisco on the evening of the 20th inst., coming through in less than ten days. By this arrival we have San Francisco advices to April 20, and Carson City to the 21st. The Express brought two hundred and eighty-five letters, five private telegrams, and a large summary of news.

The express encountered serious obstacles crossing the mountains from Carson to Placerville, snow having accumulated four feet deep.
A narrow mule path had been opened, and each mule, thus causing several hours delay.

Spontaneous celebrations took place at every town through which the pony passed. At Placerville guns were fired, speeches made, music by all the bands, waving of flags and general hurrabs. At Sacramento the Legislature adjourned in honor of the event. The streets were draped with banners, the ladies thronged the balconies, and thousands blocked the side-walks along the streets through which the pony was expected to pass. As he came galloping along, followed by a wild cavalcade of men who had gone out on the plains to meet him, the city echoed with the ringing of bells, booming of cannon, and the long continued shouts of the multitude.

The demonstration was equally enthusiastic and more imposing when the express reached San Froncisco. The city was lit up by numerous bonfires, a torch-light procession was formed, the military companies were out, and the pony was escorted from the steamer to the heart of the city, amid a blaze of fireworks.

COMMERCIAL INTELLIGENCE.

The funds were favorably affected by the casier appearance of the market, and in the afternoon a stimulus was given by the announcement of the restoration of the missing mass of currency to its accustomed restingplace, coupled with a report that a considerable amount of gold had been sent into bank, and an advance of ½ per cent, was finally established. The supply of Money to-day was most liberal. The best short paper was discounted at 4½@5 per cent, but in other cases 5 per cent, and upward must still be quoted at the bank, and the demand was moderate, the improvement in the exchange having caused a cessation of the demand for gold for the continent. £95,000 of the £129,000 by the Suffolk, was this day sent into bank. Any further supply will probably similarly be dealt with. The amount of specie engaged for the East by the steamer Ceylon, which will sail on Friday, is as much as £62,637 in gold, and the residue in silver.
